The Sirena 42M Superyacht Takes Shape

Sirena is making rapid progress toward delivery of its debut 42-meter Sirena 42M, the shipyard's first steel-and-aluminium superyacht. When construction is complete, the vessel will accommodate four guest cabins and a lavish master suite that can be positioned according to the client's wishes.

The exterior and interior layouts of the Sirena 42M are the work of Luca Vallebona while Hot Lab, part of The Viken Group, designed the interior. Van Oossanen is responsible for the naval architecture.

When it comes to the yacht's social areas, owners have choices. For example, one option is an extended forward living area that complements the inviting aft salon with a flexible space that can be dedicated as a game room or studio. There is also the option to dedicate another forward space to comfortable dining.

The Sirena 42M is due for delivery in 2026.
